

ABSTRACT

Numerous embodiments for a method for generation of electronic reports are disclosed.

1. A method for generating an electronic report, comprising:
receiving a request for an electronic report;
determining a set of data to be included in the electronic report;
generating the electronic report based on the set of data;
transmitting the electronic report to a user.